Monica Schaffer, Ph.D. President at Visionary Institute for Total Ageless Living, Inc. Location Washington D.C. Metro Area Industry Nonprofit Organization Management, provided a brief biography of the presenter Michael W. Hodin, with Global Coalition on Aging.

Mr. Hodin’s presentation was on the “Impact of Aging Populations in the 21st Century: Opportunities for Economic Growth.” He shared the 21st century is expected to be the century of ageing and international migration and that in the 21st century, quality of life and human capital of all countries will be interlinked. He indicated the “demographic window of opportunity” that young countries currently enjoy will become a “demographic burden” if they do not implement necessary national policies in education, employment, and health care systems within their development agenda. His challenge to the State was to begin looking at policies that reflect how aging can bring enormous value to the economy by creating opportunities through policy.
